Special Considerations to Keep in Mind When You Have a Child with Special Needs

Know your rights!
Ensure the program you chose is willing and able to work with all children regardless of their needs, abilities, and limitations.
Consider giving the program a copy of your child's IEP/IFSP if they have one.
Check the programs policy regarding allowing specialists into the program to work with your child (such as speech, physical, and occupational therapists).
Ask how the program manages changes to the environment, expectations, and the daily schedule to accommodate children with special needs?
Does the environment meet the needs of your child? Are all areas and materials accessible?
Find out if the provider/staff has experience caring for a child with needs like yours.
Ask how children are encouraged to celebrate differences and assist and support each other.
What supports, resources, and training are available to parents and providers?
